

XXIV International Congress of Entomology

ICE 2012 DAEGU, KOREA

AUGUST 19~25, 2012

Invitation to Daegu, Korea

Dear My Colleagues

The Entomological Society of Korea, the Korean Society of Applied Entomology, the Korean Society of Sericultural Science, and the Apicultural Society of Korea, and the Management Committee for the 24th International Congress of Entomology cordially invite you to attend this major event, to be held in Daegu, South Korea.

The Management Committee, in collaboration with our professional congress organizers, is glad to invite entomologists from all over the world in Daegu, South Korea between 19-25, August, 2012. Since Korea is located between China and Japan, the fauna of insect has an important role also in Asia. We have been working extremely hard to develop a truly dynamic forum for the exchange of new information and ideas of significance to entomologists of all persuasions from around the world.

It would be a great pleasure for us if you accept our invitation. We are convinced, that this congress will fit into the series of these developing gatherings of our entomologists, and outstanding as much as its content and atmosphere are concerned. With this landmark event we celebrate the first International Congress of Entomology to be staged in Korea. We are confident that Daegu and the acclaimed International Convention Centre will live up to your high expectations as well as convenient accommodation, and we encourage our colleagues throughout the world to use this opportunity to get a glimpse of Korean peninsula's astonishing insect fauna, to engage with its entomologists and to enjoy South Korean hospitality. We look forward to welcoming you to Daegu in 2012.

Byungjin Kim

President: ICE2012, Daegu, Korea

Daegu

A Wealth of Cultural Heritage

Daegu is a city of living legacy and charm embracing 3,000 years of history. Nestled within wooded mountains and the Gumhogan river flowing around it, Daegu is an ideal place to convene and relax. The congress participants are assured of a warm welcome and a comfortable stay in Daegu, a city with many historic legacies registered as the World Heritage sites by UNESCO.

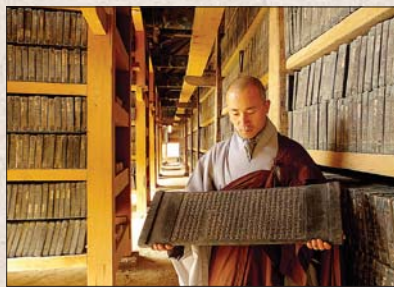

Korea, The Sprit of Asia

Korea, with its rich cultural heritages as well as its state of the art convention facilities and services, Korea has become a famous destination for international conventions and events. Korea has successfully hosted numerous international events and delegates from all over the world enjoyed the opportunity to discover Korea, a country with natural beauty, friendly people, and a 5,000-year cultural heritage.

Andong Hahoe Folk Village

Haehinsa Temple

Donghwasa

Bulgksa

Gyeongju Sukguram Grotto

EXCO, Daegu

Opened in April 2001, EXCO, already a state of the art convention and exhibition facility, is entering a phase of extensive expansion that will be completed in early 2011. The Annual Congress & General Assembly of the International Solid Waste Association 2011 will be one of the first major events to be held at the newly expanded facility. By then EXCO will comprise 24,000 square meters of exhibition space, 4,000 seats capacity of the convention hall, 1,600 seats capacity of auditorium and 34 conference rooms. In addition, a new 5 star hotel will make up part of the immediate complex, allowing delegates to reach the congress and exhibition in minutes.

Contact

Prof. Byungjin Kim

President of ICE 2012

T. +82-63-850-6199

C.P. +82-10-6770-6199

Email kbjin@wonkwang.ac.kr

<http://www.ice2012.org>

